United Nations A/66/PV.71

General Assembly
Sixty-sixth session

Official Records

71st plenary meeting
Friday, 2 December 2011, 10 a.m.
New York

President: Mr. Al-Nasser ..... (Qatar)

In the absence of the President, Mr. Kőrösi (Hungary), Vice-President, took the Chair.

The meeting was called to order at 10.05 a.m.

Reports of the First Committee

The Acting President: The General Assembly will now take up the reports of the First Committee on agenda items 87 to 106, 121 and 135.

I now request Mr. Archil Gheghechkori of Georgia, Rapporteur of the First Committee, to introduce the reports of the First Committee in one intervention.

Mr. Gheghechkori (Georgia), Rapporteur of the First Committee: It gives me great pleasure to introduce to the General Assembly the reports of the First Committee on agenda items 87 to 106, 121 and 135. Those reports are contained in documents A/66/401 through A/66/422.

In response to the General Assembly's appeal, the First Committee continued to fully utilize its existing resources and was able to conclude its work at the current session in four weeks in full accordance with the planned completion date, with 24 formal meetings. The work of the Committee at the present session could be characterized as very efficient, procedurally smooth and substantively constructive, especially in the light of the ongoing efforts by the Secretary-General to re-energize the process of disarmament in multilateral forums.

The First Committee had before it 48 draft resolutions and 5 draft decisions under various disarmament and related international security agenda items for its consideration. Of the 52 resolutions and decisions adopted, 31 drafts, or 67 per cent, were adopted without a vote.

This year, nuclear issues were at centre stage in the general debate in the First Committee. Of the 52 draft resolutions and decisions adopted, 17 were on nuclear issues and 4 on other weapons of mass destruction. The draft resolutions on the non-proliferation of nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction, the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty and the fissile material cut-off treaty were adopted with the overwhelming support of Member States.

Visible progress in the area of weapons of mass destruction in general, and nuclear weapons in particular, did not overshadow the importance of other vital disarmament and international security issues such as small arms and light weapons, the universalization of existing legal instruments, and the role assigned to multilateralism in disarmament. On the contrary, draft resolutions on various aspects of small arms and light weapons enjoyed increasing support from Member States.

The overall tone and results-oriented approach was clearly evident during the thematic debate stage. Panel discussions and interactive dialogue with the participation of high-level officials of major international disarmament bodies, including the International Atomic Energy Agency, the Preparatory Commission for the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty Organization, the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons, the Conference on Disarmament and others, explored conceptual as well as practical aspects of national and international security.

Another contributing factor was the sustained level of support from civil society for greater progress on a wide range of disarmament issues. The Committee held a lively debate on modalities of the participation of civil society organizations in its work and heard representatives of various non-governmental organizations at one of its meetings of the thematic debate.

The First Committee was assigned 23 agenda items in the current session. In the course of the general debate, 103 delegations, including observers and representatives of international organizations, made statements. Among those, seven spoke on behalf of the various groups. More than 169 statements were made within the framework of thematic discussions at the second stage. Both of those numbers were unprecedented. Many speakers who spoke in the general and thematic debates expressed concern over the continuing impasse in the Conference on Disarmament and offered various ways to overcome it.

At this point in my introduction of the First Committee reports, I would like to bring the following corrections in the reports to the attention of delegations. In the English version of the report contained in document A/66/403, a sentence should be added to the footnote at the bottom of page 2 that reads, "The delegation of Turkey subsequently informed the Secretariat that it intended to abstain."

In the report contained in document A/66/412, on page 33 of the English version, the following countries should be added as sponsors in paragraph 34: Andorra, Chile, Costa Rica, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Panama, San Marino, Serbia and Timor-Leste. On page 34 of the same document, a sentence should be added at the end of paragraph 56 that reads, "Albania, Austria, El Salvador, Georgia, Greece, Guatemala, Guyana, Haiti, Iceland, Jamaica, Kuwait, the Netherlands, Spain, Sweden and Zambia subsequently joined in sponsoring the draft resolution."

In conclusion, I would like to pay well-deserved tribute to all delegations for their active participation in the work of the Committee and for their spirit of cooperation in the common search for a better, safer and more stable world. I should like to express special gratitude to the Chair of the First Committee, His Excellency Mr. Jarmo Viinanen of Finland, who, with his experience of disarmament and international security matters, skilfully led the proceedings of the Committee with vision and able leadership.

On behalf of the Committee and on my own behalf, let me also extend our sincere gratitude to the Committee's Vice-Chairs, Ms. Ayesha Borland of Belize, Mr. Amr Fathi Aljowaily of Egypt and Mr. Mohammad F. A. O. AlMutairi of Kuwait, for their valuable contributions to the work of the Committee. I should also like to express my appreciation to Mr. Sergio Duarte, High Representative for Disarmament Affairs, and Mr. Shaaban Muhammad Shaaban, Under-Secretary-General for General Assembly Affairs and Conference Management, for their leadership and contributions, as well as to the Secretariat staff that assisted the Committee.

Finally, I offer special thanks to the First Committee and to Mr. Timur Alasaniya, whose invaluable institutional experience and encyclopaedic knowledge of disarmament issues made a significant contribution to the successful outcome of the Committee's work. Since it was his last session at the Committee before his retirement, I would like to wish him success in all his future endeavours.

I should also like to express my gratitude to the Acting Secretary, Mr. Sergei Cherniavsky, and the other officers of the Secretariat for their valuable assistance to the Committee.

With those brief remarks, I have presented the reports of the First Committee as contained in documents A/66/401 through A/66/422 to the General Assembly for its consideration and adoption.

The Acting President: I thank the Rapporteur of the First Committee.

If there is no proposal under rule 66 of the rules of procedure, I shall take it that the General Assembly decides not to discuss the reports of the First Committee that are before the Assembly today.

It was so decided.

The Acting President: Statements will therefore be limited to explanations of vote. The positions of delegations regarding the recommendations of the First Committee have been made clear in the Committee and are reflected in the relevant official records.

May I remind Members that, in accordance with General Assembly decision 34/401,

> "a delegation should, as far as possible, explain its vote only once, that is, either in the Committee or in plenary meeting, unless that delegation's vote in plenary meeting is different from its vote in the Committee", and that explanations of vote are limited to 10 minutes and should be made by delegations from their seats.

Before we begin to take action on the recommendations contained in the reports of the First Committee, I should like to advise representatives that we are going to proceed to take decisions in the same manner as was done in the Committee, unless notified otherwise in advance. That means that where separate or recorded votes were taken, we will do the same. I therefore hope that we may adopt without a vote those recommendations that were adopted without a vote in the First Committee.

Before proceeding further, I would like to draw the attention of members to a note by the Secretariat, in English only, entitled "Situation reports of the First Committee on agenda items 87 to 106, 121 and 135", which has been circulated as document A/C.1/66/INF/3. The note has been distributed desk-to-desk in the General Assembly Hall as a reference guide for action on the draft resolutions and decisions recommended by the First Committee in its reports. In that connection, Members will find, in the second column of the note, the numbers of the draft resolutions or decisions of the First Committee, with the corresponding numbers of the reports for action in the plenary in the fourth column of the same note.

Furthermore, members are reminded that additional sponsors are no longer accepted, now that draft resolutions and decisions have been adopted by the Committee. Any clarification about sponsorship in the Committee reports should be addressed to the Secretary of the Committee.

Agenda item 98

General and complete disarmament

Report of the First Committee (A/66/412)

The Acting President: The Assembly has before it 25 draft resolutions recommended by the First Committee in paragraph 70 of its report and three draft decisions recommended by the Committee in paragraph 71 of the same report.

I now give the floor to the representative of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, who wishes to speak in explanation of vote before the voting.

Mr. Sin Son Ho (Democratic People's Republic of Korea): Before we start voting, I would like to clarify the position of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea on draft resolution XVIII entitled "United action towards the total elimination of nuclear weapons", contained in document A/66/412.

My delegation believes that Japan has lost its moral authority to co-sponsor such a draft resolution in the General Assembly, as Japan is under the nuclear umbrella of the United States. Therefore, my delegation totally rejects the draft resolution. Moreover, with specific regard to the fifteenth preambular paragraph, my delegation wants to make it clear that that paragraph was formulated with purely sinister political purposes, which is not helpful for peace and security or for an impartial solution of the nuclear issue on the Korean peninsula.

In that regard, allow me to draw the Assembly's attention to the following phrase in the fifteenth preambular paragraph:

> "concern regarding the Democratic People's Republic of Korea's claimed uranium enrichment programme and light water reactor construction".

The peaceful use of nuclear energy is an inalienable, legitimate right of all sovereign States. The ongoing uranium enrichment and light water reactor construction in the Democratic People's Republic of Korea represent our full exercise of that legitimate right.

The Democratic People's Republic of Korea has decided to build its own light water reactor under its economic development strategy, given that there is no prospect for the delivery of the light water reactors that had been promised from outside the country. At the present time, the construction of an experimental light water reactor and the production of low-enriched uranium as fuel for the reactor are progressing steadily, based on the solid foundation of a self-supporting national economy and the latest science and technology.

At every stage, the peaceful nuclear activities of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea will be made public domestically and internationally. At the same time, we also want to clarify our flexible stance, whereby any concern that may arise can be discussed in the Six-Party Talks. Moreover, the peaceful nature of our nuclear activities can be verified by the International Atomic Energy Agency.

In article 1 of the Joint Statement of 19 September 2005 adopted at the Six-Party Talks, it is stipulated that the right of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea to the peaceful use of nuclear energy is to be respected. The provision of light water reactors was also addressed in the document. It is noteworthy that as early as 1994, in article 1 of the Agreed Framework between the United States of America and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, the United States made a commitment to provide the Democratic People's Republic of Korea with light water reactors. That commitment was later abrogated by the United States unilaterally.

As to the process of denuclearization of the Korean peninsula having been subject to such twists and turns, that is absolutely attributable to the United States, which does not honour its own commitments and obligations, while encroaching on the sovereignty and deterring the peaceful development of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea. The 19 September Joint Statement of the Six-Party Talks stipulates the United States commitment to fundamentally ending its nuclear threat and hostile relations and to building a mechanism for lasting peace on the Korean peninsula.

The 19 September Joint Statement stipulates commitments not only on the part of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, but also on the part of all parties to the Six-Party Talks, aiming at the denuclearization of the entire Korean peninsula. We are confident that the denuclearization of the Korean peninsula can be realized only when all concerned parties honour their commitments under the Joint Statement in good faith and on the principle of simultaneous actions, which is a core principle of the Statement. The Democratic People's Republic of Korea is ready both for the resumption of the Six-Party Talks without preconditions and for the implementation of the Joint Statement in a paced manner, on the principle of simultaneous actions.

No unilateral demand by others, even as they fail to honour their commitments, can ever be tolerated, and any attempt to make illegal the peaceful nuclear activities of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea or to delay them for an indefinite period will only bring resolute and decisive countermeasures.

The Acting President: The Assembly will now take decisions on draft resolutions I to XXV and draft decisions I to III, one by one. After all the decisions have been taken, representatives will again have the opportunity to explain their vote on any or all of the draft resolutions and draft decisions.

I now invite delegations to turn to paragraph 70, in section III of the report containing the draft resolutions.

We turn first to draft resolution I, entitled "Follow-up to nuclear disarmament obligations agreed to at the 1995, 2000 and 2010 Review Conferences of the Parties to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons". Separate votes have been requested on the sixth and ninth preambular paragraphs of draft resolution I.

I shall first put to the vote the sixth preambular paragraph of draft resolution I, on which a separate, recorded vote has been requested.

A recorded vote was taken.

In favour:

Draft decision III was adopted by 166 votes to none, with 13 abstentions.

The Acting President: I shall now give the floor to those speakers who have asked to speak in explanation of vote after the voting.

Mr. Ri Tong Il (Democratic People's Republic of Korea): The delegation of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea would like to make a few comments on resolution 66/33 under agenda item 98, "2015 Review Conference of the Parties to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons and its Preparatory Committee". The Democratic People's Republic of Korea voted against the retention of the seventh preambular paragraph of that resolution, which contains the phrase "Welcoming the successful outcome of the 2010 Review Conference of the Parties to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons".

As everyone knows, this contains elements that far from reflect the fundamental reality on the Korean peninsula, and portrays the situation as if the Democratic People's Republic of Korea were a State party to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons (NPT), which is not the case. I quote from paragraph 108 of the Final Document of the 2010 NPT Review Conference (NPT/CONF.2010/50 (Vol. I)):

> "The Conference deeply deplores the nuclear test explosions announced by the Democratic People's Republic of Korea and declares that the Democratic People's Republic of Korea cannot have the status of a nuclear-weapon State in accordance with the Treaty in any case."

First, this sentence gives the impression that the Democratic People's Republic of Korea is a State party to the NPT, and, as I said, my country is not. It has withdrawn from the NPT under article X of the Treaty, in full exercise of its rights as a sovereign State under the Treaty, since article X clearly stipulates that any country can withdraw from the NPT if the supreme interests of that State are in jeopardy, as was case with the Democratic People's Republic of Korea.

In 2002, the United States included the Democratic People's Republic of Korea on a list of seven countries as a potential target of a pre-emptive nuclear strike. The United States also named the Democratic People's Republic of Korea as one of three countries in an axis of evil, along with Iran and Iraq. After that, as we all know, the United States launched a military action — an armed invasion — against Iraq and openly declared that the next target would be the Democratic People's Republic of Korea. In that spectacularly strained security environment, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea had no option but to withdraw from the NPT in 2003, following all the established procedures. That was therefore a legitimate exercise of its sovereignty by a sovereign State.

Secondly, returning to paragraph 108 of the Final Document of the 2010 NPT Review Conference, which refers to nuclear explosions by the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, I wish to state that that is an utterly selective approach directed against the Democratic People's Republic of Korea. It does not take into impartial consideration the nuclear threats that the United States has made against the Democratic People's Republic of Korea for almost six decades. In 1957, the United States brought nuclear weapons into South Korea on the Korean peninsula and has, ever since, threatened and blackmailed the Democratic People's Republic of Korea. Under that nuclear threat to the sovereignty of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, to its survival as a nation and to its unity, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea was compelled to develop nuclear weapons. And as long as the supreme interests of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea continue to be increasingly threatened, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea will continue to build up its nuclear deterrent.

Turning to the question of the obligations of nuclear-weapon States under the NPT and the suggestion that it was as if the Democratic People's Republic of Korea had violated its obligations while it was a party to the Treaty, I assert that the opposite in fact is true: the nuclear Powers were not made to eliminate nuclear weapons under article VI, which clearly stipulates that nuclear Powers should pursue the nuclear disarmament process and negotiations in good faith. They have never honoured that obligation but have instead encouraged their own possession of weapons of mass destruction and have openly pursued a programme of modernization.

Mr. Sitnikov (Russian Federation) (spoke in Russian): Concerning the adoption of resolution 66/45, "United action towards the total elimination of nuclear weapons", for which Russia voted in favour, I would like to underline our principled position on settling the nuclear issue on the Korean peninsula. We firmly believe that such settlement should be implemented within the framework of the Six-Party Talks, on the basis of the Joint Declaration of the People's Republic of China, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, Russia, the Republic of Korea, the United States and Japan of 19 September 2005.

The Acting President: May I take it that it is the wish of the General Assembly to conclude its consideration of agenda item 98?

It was so decided.

Agenda item 99

Review and implementation of the Concluding Document of the Twelfth Special Session of the General Assembly

Report of the First Committee (A/66/413)

The Acting President: The Assembly has before it six draft resolutions recommended by the First Committee in paragraph 22 of its report.

The General Assembly will now take a decision on draft resolutions I to VI, one by one. After all the decisions have been taken, representatives will again have the opportunity to explain their vote or position on any or all of the draft resolutions.

We turn first to draft resolution I, entitled "United Nations regional centres for peace and disarmament". The First Committee adopted it without a vote. May I take it that the Assembly wishes to do the same?
